You want to change your first name(s) and/or gender marker and are not sure how to proceed?

You have questions around the gender marker “diverse” or the option of cancelling the gender marker?

You need information about the legal and political situation concerning the change of given name/gender marker?

For many trans*, intersex and nonbinary people, legally changing their given names and/or their gender marker is important to leading a self-determined life. However, achieving this change in Germany can be complicated. We offer support in this process through information and counseling.

Our offer:

- counseling around the process of changing your name and gender marker
- confidential, free of charge and if needed, anonymous
- in person in our office, via phone or online
- in English, German (spoken language) and other languages (via language mediation, please give notice in advance)
